NYU Shanghai invites applications for one or more positions as Visiting Professor (Open Rank, Non Tenure Track) of Political Science for the academic year 2016-17 (with a possible renewal thereafter). Candidates must hold a PhD in Political Science or International Relations and be able to teach courses in International Relations or Comparative Politics; expertise in China, East Asia, or in a region or country other than China is welcome. Teaching experience and a record of research and publication in the field of specialization required; experience teaching non-native speakers of English preferred, but not required. Appointments for a single semester (fall or spring) are also possible.

Applications are due no later than March 1, 2016, and will be reviewed until the position is filled. To be considered, applicants should submit a cover letter, a curriculum vitae, and separate statements of research and teaching interests. To complete the online process, applicants will be prompted to enter the names and email addresses of at least three referees. Each reference will be contacted to upload his or her reference letter. Please visit our website at http://shanghai.nyu.edu/en/about/work-here/open-positions-faculty for instructions and other information on how to apply. If you have any questions, please e-mail shanghai.socialscience.recruitment@nyu.edu.

About NYU Shanghai:
NYU Shanghai is the newest degree-granting campus within the NYU Global Network University. It is the first Sino-US higher education joint venture to grant a degree that is accredited in the U.S. as well as in China. All teaching is conducted in English. A research university with liberal arts and science at its core, it resides in one of the world's great cities with a vibrant intellectual community. NYU Shanghai recruits scholars who are committed to NYU’s global vision of transformative teaching and innovative research.

New York University has established itself as a Global Network University, a multi-site, organically connected network encompassing key global cities and idea capitals. There are three degree-granting campuses in New York, Shanghai, and Abu Dhabi, and complemented by eleven additional academic centers across five continents. Faculty and students circulate within the network in pursuit of common research interests and cross-cultural, interdisciplinary endeavors, both local and global.
