

Shanghai City Attractions

The Bund Area

The Bund started as a muddy narrow lane along the Huangpu River, and it became the landmark of Shanghai and Asia. The Bund was first set as the British settlement in 1844. The Exotic Building Clusters on the bund, show the elegant demeanor of the past “Oriental Wall Street”.
Metro Line 2 & 10, East Nanjing Road Station

- The Exotic Building Clusters
- Huangpu Cruise Tour

Lujiazui Financial Center

It turned from an unremarkable suburb to the financial center of Shanghai and China, Lujiazui Financial Center witnessed the tremendous change of Shanghai in the past 20 years of Pudong development. It is the height of Shanghai. What an amazing view seeing world level skyscrapers standing one by one in only 1.7 square kilometer land!

Metro Line 2 & 14, Lujiazui Station

- Oriental Pearl Tower
- Shanghai Ocean Aquarium
- Shopping and Entertainment

Shanghai Old Town

Shanghai Old Town is the center of Shanghai in the past. It is surrounded by Ren Min Road in the north, and Zhong Hua Road in the south. The old city wall was removed in 1910's. Now you can only find its footprint in a few places. The Town God's Temple and Yu Garden are the most famous destinations in the Shanghai Old Town.

Metro Line 10 & 14, Yu Garden Station

- Town God's Temple
- Yu Garden
- Confucian Temple

Shanghai City Attractions

French Concession Area

The former French Concession area has 100 years of history. It starts from the Fuxing Park at the east, Zhaojiabang Road to the south, Huashan Road to the west and Middle Yan'an Road to the north. It was not only the French people that lived there, but also British and America business men, Byelorussian and Jewish refugees, Chinese noble and rich man all lived in this area. In this small concession, you can find Orthodox, Catholic, Anglican churches, and Jewish temples all together, which is truly a cultural melting pot.

Today, it has become the place of romance. The Chinars tree, the celebrity residences, villas and mansions, western restaurants and bars, these are now the impression of the French Concession. There is no better way than taking a walking tour to experience the charm of it.

Shikumen Style Entertainment Center

Shikumen alley is a unique Shanghai style residential neighborhood. It's the origin of the Shanghainese culture. It is famous for its narrow alley which says that two neighbors that live opposite to the alley can deliver things to each other through the window. Nowadays after the renovation, the center transformed into an attractive entertainment center for the fashionable young generations.

- Xintiandi (新天地)
- Sinan Mansion (思南公馆)
- Zhangyuan (张园)

Shanghai Museums & Galleries

- Shanghai Museum (Free)
- Shanghai History Museum (Free)
- Shanghai Urban Planning Exhibition Center (Free)
- Museum of Contemporary Art (MOCA)
- The Museum of Art Pudong (MAP)
- West Bond Art District
- AND SO MUCH MORE

