Considerations:

- Students enrolled in the Advanced GCS Track may only spend no more than one semester abroad.
- Before studying away, students are strongly encouraged to complete the GCHN-SHU 110 The Concept of China and at least one GCS elective. Students who wish to study in global sites other than New York ideally complete 5 to 6 GCS courses.
- In terms of the 13 NYU study away sites, the majority of GCS courses will be offered at NYU New York. Students are encouraged to explore International Exchange Programs such as Waseda University, Nagoya University, and Yonsei University, etc, to continue their academic interests in GCS.
- It is possible to study away at a global location and take no courses that count towards the GCS major while staying on track for graduation.
- Students planning to study away for two semesters are strongly encouraged to spend the first semester in a location other than New York. Applicants who spend the first semester away in another location will receive priority consideration for New York in their second semester away.
- Students who wish to spend two semesters in New York will need to submit a proposal for the second semester demonstrating a compelling academic rationale.
- Students who plan to study in New York, should consider following:
  - Students should anticipate registering for courses either at the College of Arts and Science (CAS) or Gallatin School of Individualized Study, among others.
  - Students can find more GCS related courses from the College of Arts and Science's East Asian Studies, Politics, and History departments.
  - Students may begin registering for approved CAS courses the first week of registration when their assigned registration window opens.
  - Each semester, there are many courses taught in New York that are often close to students who are not matriculated majors in the course's sponsoring department; this means they often fill with matriculated NY majors before the majority of students, including students from NYUAD and NYUSH, register for courses. However, a number of these courses are also offered at other global locations, where they are generally open to all students.
- Students who wish to be part of the Washington DC Leadership Program ideally plan to apply for junior fall.
- NYU New York maintains a campus-wide list covering these courses, along with alternative locations, for the benefit of NYUAD and NYUSH students. All students should consult this list before selecting a study away location and should not include any listed course in their study plans for a semester away in New York.
