

NYU Shanghai Writing & Speaking Fellowship

The Writing & Speaking Fellowship is designed for graduating college seniors and young professionals who have recently completed their academic study programs. Fellows serve as English language writing and speaking tutors for undergraduates at NYU Shanghai, the third degree-granting campus in NYU's global network, joining NYU in New York and NYU Abu Dhabi. Opened in 2013, NYU Shanghai is a world-class liberal arts and sciences research university with half of the student body drawn from China and half from over 60 other countries.

The primary responsibility of the Fellow is to provide academic tutoring and support. In addition, Fellows develop their leadership, project management, and intercultural communication skills by providing curricular and co-curricular support. This might include mentoring student groups, developing support for students pursuing careers/graduate school, or launching new initiatives that contribute to intellectual life on campus. Fellows are immersed in a pioneering model of international higher education. Fellows are also required to complete an independent writing project over the course of the academic year, with mentorship from a member of the NYU Shanghai Faculty.

Candidates must have received high distinction during their college and early professional careers, and they must be gifted writers. Experience teaching or tutoring writing is helpful, but not required. We also value evidence of initiative and judgment, as well as skill working with people from different cultures.

HIGHLIGHTS:

- RMB 160,000 fellowship stipend
- Round-trip transportation to Shanghai
- Medical insurance
- Housing benefits in Shanghai
- 10-month appointment from August 1, 2019-May 31, 2020

QUALIFICATIONS:

- Minimum of a bachelor's degree by July 2019
- Two years of tutoring/teaching experience or a Master's degree preferred
- Excellent academic record
- Candidates with fewer than two years of continuous formal teaching experience may be required to participate in an unpaid one-week work certification training in China prior to the beginning of the Fellowship.

APPLICATION PROCESS

Please upload the following six application materials at <http://shanghai.nyu.edu/about/work/fellowships>:

1. Cover Letter
2. Resume
3. Three letters of reference (two should be from faculty or research supervisors)
4. Transcript (Bachelor's and, if applicable, Master's)

5. Five-page sample of recent academic writing (may be an excerpt from a longer paper)
6. We would like to know about you as a learner, writer, teacher, and colleague. In responding to the following prompts, you should feel free to deploy whatever voices you choose. Please upload all of your answers in one PDF.
 - Teaching (400-500 words)
Please show us what you value as a teacher and as a learner - in general and with writing specifically. You might choose to describe a challenge or breakthrough moment in your own learning or writing, you might suggest an ideal first-year writing program, or you might go in another direction.
 - English as a Second Language (200-300 words)
Please show us how you would approach teaching non-native speakers of English.
 - Professional Development (200-300 words)
Please show us what creative or critical work you plan to pursue in the coming years. Where do you see yourself in five years?
 - Place (200-300 words)
Please show us what attracts you about Shanghai as a place to live and work.

Applications will be accepted until all positions are filled. The deadline for the first wave of hiring is January 4, 2019. Questions may be directed to shanghai.writing.fellowship@nyu.edu.